

Andrew Frazier McLean, foreground at left, and Lucinda & Woodfin McLean, background at left, same stone from front on the right.

Latitia Hill, left, and Henry Wilhide, right

Augusta (foreground) and D.A.C. Ward (background, with his headstone on ground)

Roane family headstone; the bar is just under 6 ft long. I estimate that the stone, including several inches of base under the surface and concrete under that, weighs 3500 pounds.

How we raise most of them. We then dig out underneath with a hand trowel and fill the cavity with fast-setting concrete mix. We've used over 2500 pounds to this point, and probably 1000 pounds of topsoil and sandstone to fill in sunken graves.